The Motor Cycle report in the issue of 1st December 1932 stated "To the 105 starters, the Sidcup Sixty Trial meant over sixty miles of highly concentrated riding through the narrow, rutted sections of the Pilgrims Way in the North Downs of Kent.

With officials, riders and enthusiastic followers of the game, the start at Wrotham Heath, near Maidstone, presented one of the busiest scenes seen in the South for quite a long time."
